Georgia to join Multistate Tax Commission's National Nexus Program October 1

ATLANTA – Effective October 1, the Georgia Department of Revenue will join the Multistate Tax Commission's National Nexus Program, Commissioner Bart Graham announced today.

The program assists businesses involved in multistate commerce that want to voluntarily resolve potential state sales and use tax and income/franchise tax liabilities when tax filing obligations in multiple states is the central issue.

"This program allows us to improve our compliance efficiency with little additional expense and it provides one-stop-shopping for businesses to resolve filing issues with all participating states at once instead of having to deal with the individual states," Commissioner Graham said in making the announcement. "This is an expansion of our continuing effort to be more customer friendly and provide additional means for taxpayers to interface with the Department."

Georgia will be the 40th state to join the Multistate Tax Commission's National Nexus Program.
